We speak human.

Awkward is so yesterday.

Online sessions with psychologists who speak human

Seriously. Our psychologists are real humans who have pets and occasionally drink pinot. The conversations we have are open, honest and as down-to-earth as it gets.

Experienced and actually available

We're highly experienced clinical and registered psychologists, oh and we actually have availability to talk, this week.

The perfect match with Homerun™

We believe speaking with the right psychologist is critical to the success of your sessions. That's why we've developed HomeRun™ - our unique, intelligent matching process so we can ensure you're paired up with your kind of person.

Your couch not ours

This is telehealth, have your session from anywhere. Like your living room, work, uni, local cafe, bathtub (not even kidding). This is on your turf.

It's brain science,
not rocket science.
